This Week's English Tasks

WC 1st June 2020

Grammar:

We will be looking at how we link ideas across paragraphs using adverbials of time (e.g. later) place (e.g. nearby) and number (e.g. secondly).

- First remind yourself what an adverb is by working through the activities here:
<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/articles/zv73bdm>
- Then move onto fronted adverbials and think about how they can link paragraphs.

- There is a Crib Sheet for parents if they want to use it.
- Use these adverbials in your diary writing in Activity 2.

Spelling:

Study the first 15 of the 'Dirty Thirty' spelling list. Some words are more difficult to spell than others. Learn these first 15. Use LCWC and other no nonsense spelling methods to learn these. Test yourself, test each other. Play the free games by following this link. Make a note of the ones you still struggle with and add them to a personal challenge list.

Activity 1:

Download Activity Sheet 1. Answer the prompts about the front cover of the book.

Activity 2:

Download the Diary support sheet and read it. Remind yourself of how you need to change your writing style to make it sound like a diary. Complete Activity Sheet 2. Write a diary extract as if you were Hillary having just climbed to the top of the world!

Activity 3:

Visit this amazing museum. The link below takes you to the section that has copies of Hillary's actual diary extract. Compare it with your diary. How does it compare?

Activity 4:Reading For Pleasure

Our book for this term is Everest by Alexander Stewart and Joe Todd-Stanton. If you can buy it, it would make a wonderful addition to your library. If not don't worry I will send you all the parts you will need for your home learning activities.
