

Science We will be learning how to make a multimedia presentation this week. Next week I will be asking you to make a presentation using all the information you have found out about mountain animals and habitats. First find out how to make an effective multimedia presentation. Use this link and do the quiz on multimedia presentations before you begin. <https://www.educationquizzes.com/ks2/ict/multimedia-presentations/> There are lots of other tutorials. Then plan your presentation using the planning sheet. Use the top tips sheet to help you choose your mountain.

PSHE Talk to someone about one brave thing you have done and one brave thing you are going to try. It doesn't need to be something big. We all take small brave steps every day when we try something new for the first time, or do something we find tricky. Come up with a range of definitions and examples of being brave: (remember asking for and accepting help counts as being brave). Draw or make your own brave cartoon character adding the qualities it will have, the things that will help it to be brave and come up with a motto for the character

Watch these clips from Harry Potter. Write a description of how the characters have been brave.

Art

Try and paint in the style of Heaton Cooper. If you have watercolours choose one of his pictures and recreate it. Alternatively, use his watercolour style and create a mountain landscape of your own. If you don't have watercolours try any of these ideas on this site using other things to paint with.

Computing - Keeping going with coding!

Please log into: https://studio.code.org/s/express-2019?section_id=2793409 Revision week. Go back to any of the sections you found difficult and try again. Alternatively, visit a favourite section and try it again.

RE

Use the support sheet on Persuasive Pilgrimage Posters. Design a poster advertising your pilgrimage site. Try and convince me to visit. Think about persuasive language and the purpose of the visit. Who are you trying to convince ?

Music

Keep looking at the Charanga resources. Mrs Barkway has told me she is adding new activities every week now.

Geography

This week we are looking at how rocks are formed. This has a link to our Mountains topic. Visit the National Oak Academy link below and complete the lessons 'Rock Cycle'. Record your activities in your Home Learning book.
