Reading comprehension—watch the videos and have a go at the activities linked to reading comprehension—<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/articles/z6mndp3>

Pigeon Impossible—Watch the video here (I hope you enjoy it!) Is it the pigeon's fault? Why / why not? Should we feed pigeons in the street?

Create a comic strip or picture board to retell the story. Use your knowledge of speech to write what the man could say!

Science

When you go on your next daily walk, take a bag with you and collect as many different rocks as you can find. Look for interesting ones. Once you have got the rocks home (and dried!), try sorting them into as many different groups as possible. Size, colour, texture, type (If you already know any) If you have any weighing scales at home you could even sort them by weight!

What is Hinduism?

Watch this video <https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/zh86n39/articles/zmpp92p> and read the information to help you learn about Hinduism. Create a poster to show what you have found out.

Maths

This week we are going to recap counting in 8s and the 8 times table which we began before Christmas.

First have a go at counting up and down in 8s!

<https://whiterosemaths.com/homelearning/year-3/week-12-number-multiplication-division/>

Have a go at the following three videos; multiply by 8, divide by 8, the 8 times table.

Complete the multiplying by 8 sheet (Remember the sheets don't need printing you can work on paper). Work through the questions you can do.

Complete the dividing by 8 sheet.

Have a go at this game with the times table you need to practise <https://www.topmarks.co.uk/maths-games/hit-the-button> and don't forget to keep up the TT Rockstars practise!

Geography

This term we will be studying the UK for our topic work.

This week's task is to find out which countries make up the United Kingdom and create a fact file for each of them. You could include; the capital city, population, famous landmarks, major rivers etc. <https://www.theschoolrun.com/homework-help/england> has some good facts.
