

Wednesday's Editing Task

Read the short paragraph below. Your task is to rewrite it. Add more information. Think about how you can improve the effectiveness of it by improving the similes, metaphors, alliteration and description of what you see, hear, smell, touch and potentially taste.

The boiling sun slowly sets over the horizon, it looks as though the sky is on fire. The air gradually cools around the city. The streets are still bustling with people, hurrying quickly to get home. The noise of taxis rings though the crowded streets. Market sellers are packing up for the day but the smell of spices from their stalls still fills the air.

