

Halving

All of the pictures below show squares split in half.

How might you show / prove that each one is correct?

Can you think of any more ways you could split a square into two halves?